

Aerolloy Technologies (ATL), a wholly owned subsidiary of PTC Industries, has been provided 20 ha (50 acre) of land by the Uttar Pradesh Expressways Industrial Development Authority (UPEIDA) in the Lucknow node of the UP Defence Industrial Corridor.

The prime property is adjacent to the 80 ha (200 acre) land provided by UPEIDA to Brahmos at the same location.

ATL is planning to set up fully integrated material manufacturing capabilities of all exotic materials, including Titanium, Cobalt and Nickle Superalloys, at this facility.

The project will be developed in three phases with a total peak manufacturing capacity of 5,000 tpa. The unit will also have a Vacuum Arc Remelter that has already been procured.
