

Chalet Hotels bags contract to construct and operate hotel at
Terminal 3 of Delhi airport | 1

Delhi International Airport Limited (DIAL) has given Chalet Hotels Limited (CHL), the owner, developer, and asset management of high-end hotels in important Indian metropolises, the contract to build a hotel in the T3 Terminal of Indira Gandhi International Airport (IGIA).

With this, CHL will access Delhi, India's most significant entry point, as well as the market in northern India. This is consistent with the Company's intended strategy for corporate growth and regional diversity.

The future terminal hotel will be the company's ninth lodging facility overall and its first in northern India. 350-400 rooms will be located in the 5-star deluxe section of the hotel. The cold shell is to be delivered by DIAL, the governing body for this project. CHL will complete interiors and other fit outs. JLL was the Transaction advisor to DIAL for the Bid Process. The hotel is expected to be commissioned in FY26 or earlier.
