

GR Infra Emerges as Lowest Bidder for Two NHAI Projects Worth Rs
1,613 Crore in Karnataka | 1

Bengaluru, Karnataka - GR Infra Projects Limited has emerged as the lowest bidder for two National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) projects in Karnataka. The combined value of the two projects is estimated to be Rs. 1,613 crore.

According to the NHAI, the first project involves the construction of a six-lane access-controlled Greenfield highway from Hoskote to AP border section of NH-75. The second project involves the construction of a four-lane dual carriageway from Kaiga to Karwar section of NH-63.

The construction of these highways is expected to boost connectivity and reduce travel time between various cities in Karnataka. These projects will also contribute to the development of the state's infrastructure and will create job opportunities for the locals.

GR Infra Projects Limited is an infrastructure company that specializes in the construction of highways, bridges, and other infrastructure projects. The company has been actively involved in the development of the country's infrastructure and has completed several projects in the past.

The NHAI has expressed satisfaction with the progress of the bidding process and has said that the projects will be awarded to the lowest bidder after the completion of the formalities. The development of these highways is expected to have a positive impact on the state's economy and will contribute to the growth of the infrastructure sector. The projects are also expected to boost the country's overall infrastructure and create new opportunities for the infrastructure sector.
