

The Noida-Gretno West Metro Project, which extends the Gautam Buddha Nagar Aqua Line Metro via Greater Noida West, has received approval from the national government's Public Investment Board.

The PIB approved and amended the budget, and the file has now been sent to the government for final approval.

According to a report on a local news website, the PIB has approved the project, and the central government would provide 20% of the funding.

The project's development might start at any time, according to sources in the local media.
