

A 1,000 Kilolitres Per Day (KLPD) grain-based ethanol manufacturing facility would be built in Gujarat, according to proposals released by Mishtann Food Limited.

Mishtann Foods, which produces and markets a wide range of rice, pulses, and other food goods, is aiming to establish its manufacturing plant in Dalpur village of Gujarat's Sabarkantha district.

In order to establish India's largest grain-based ethanol production, with a capacity of 1000 KLPD, in Gujarat, Mishtann Foods has signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Gujarati government.

The anticipated cost of the proposed project for the company is Rs 2,250, and the projected annual revenue for the firm is Rs 3,500 crore.
