

The rebuilt Rani Kamalapati railway station, formerly known as Habibganj, in the Madhya Pradesh capital was inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

This station, which was recently renamed after the queen of Bhopal's Gond kingdom, features the city's first central concourse, which connects to all stations and features sophisticated world-class amenities.

Modi said, 'The re-developed Rani Kamalapati railway station has modern facilities like the airport. It has modern toilets, quality food, a hotel, hospital, smart parking, central concourse having connectivity with all the platforms of the station.'
