

A project worth Rs. 771.46 crore has been given to PNC Infratech by Haryana Rail Infrastructure Development Corporation (HRIDC) Limited, a business that builds infrastructure.

The project entails planning and building civil works that would connect the Indian Railways network from New Patli to Patli Station and New Patli to Sultanpur Station across distances of 29.68–49.7 km and 55.6–61.5 km, respectively.

The project's civil works include earthwork, bridges, station construction, retaining walls, and other auxiliary structures. Within 30 months, the project is anticipated to be finished. According to the regulatory filing, the business got a Letter of Acceptance (LoA) from Haryana Rail Infrastructure Development Corporation Ltd on April 6, 2023.

The LoA is a formal letter issued by a contracting authority indicating that they have accepted a bid from a contractor and intend to proceed with the project.
