

Realme is growing its product line in India by releasing new smartphones, tablets, laptops, and other items every month.

The Chinese IT industry firms have recently begun producing their goods domestically in India.

The CEO of Realme, Madhav Sheth, recently acknowledged that the business has begun producing the range of its audio goods, including the wristwatch, in India.

According to reports, Realme India has extended its hands to collaborate with KHY Electronics. In this collaboration, Realme will also be manufacturing its audio products including smartwatches locally in India at the Greater Noida facility.

Meanwhile, the report further reveals that the Chinese tech giant is also in talks with other Indian contract manufacturers.

In another report, Realme India CEO, Madhav Sheth also confirms that the company is planning to bring a host of audio and wearable devices to the country.

Later, the company will also be expanding by manufacturing laptops and tablets in India by 2023.
