

The engineering and transportation consultancy RITES announced a partnership with KIIFCON to collaboratively research, identify, secure, and carry out consulting projects.

As part of the agreement, the two businesses will collaborate to offer consulting services for transportation and infrastructure projects in a variety of industries, including airports, public transportation (metros), and railroads on both the domestic and global markets. The Kerala Infrastructure Investment Fund Board is the parent organisation of the consulting firm KIIFCON.

“The partnership will facilitate exploring consultancy opportunities arising in multiple sectors,” RITES Chief Strategy Officer (CSO) Manobendra Ghoshal said.
