

Schwing Stetter India, one of the country's major producers of concrete and construction equipment, has launched 'Technovation 2022' in its Global Manufacturing Hub in Cheyyar, Tamil Nadu. The major goal of the tech fest is to show how technology can be used to innovate in the concrete and construction industries across the country.

The goal of this week-long event, which will take place from February 7th to 13th, 2022, is to bring together a diverse group of industrial customers, stakeholders, and local and global technology leaders to syndicate discussions about technology, partnerships, and innovation that will help advance market technology adoption.

The exhibition will showcase more than 70 technology-driven solutions that will improve the construction process and reshape the industry.
