

Under the public-private partnership model, the Uttar Pradesh government inked an MoU to establish medical institutions in the state's Sambhal and Maharajganj districts. According to a release, the MoU was signed in the presence of Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath at his official house here.

For the first time in the state, Adityanath said, medical colleges are being built via the PPP model, and he instructed the medical education department to go on in a timely way. The job of establishing medical colleges, according to the chief minister, is being carried out by recognised organisations like as the Shri Siddhi Vinayak Trust in Bareilly and the Shanti Foundation Trust in Maharajganj.
