

The DSIIDC has started the process of hiring a consultant for one of the largest industrial projects in the national capital, the projected Kanjhawala Industrial Area, which was approved by Delhi Lt Governor VK Saxena.

Earlier this month, Saxena gave his approval for the development of 920 acres as a “industrial area” at Kanjhawala, northwest of Delhi.

In order to find a qualified consultant for the project, the Delhi State Industrial and Infrastructure Development Corporation (DSIIDC), a city government undertaking, published a request for proposals (RFQ) last week.

After being hired, the consultant selected will submit a final report on the project in six months, the officials said.

DSIIDC is the nodal agency for developing new industrial townships and projects in Delhi. It has acquired and is in possession of 920 acres of land in Kanjhawala, the RFQ document said.
